5 steps of the writing process

Brainstorming

Never skip this important step. It gets your ideas flowing so you have something concrete to write about.

#1

"Sloppy Copy"

This is your rough draft—don't worry about making it perfect! Skip lines as you write.

#2

Self-Editing and Revising

Every rough draft can improve in some way. How can you make your paper even better?

#3

Parent Editing

Good writers know the importance of feedback. Take your parents' suggestions to heart.

#4

Final Draft

All authors need an audience. Publish your final draft and share it with someone!
